BERNICE SAYESE

Saskatchewan Police Commission Member 1998 to 2004

The Department of Justice and the Saskatchewan Police Commission were saddened to learn of the passing on March 4, 2004, of Bernice Sayese, a long serving member of the Saskatchewan Police Commission.

Bernice was very well known for her involvement with the youth in the City of Prince Albert and for her contribution to the betterment of the lives of many children. She was recognized for her selfless devotion and commitment to her community when she was awarded Prince Albert's "Citizen of the Year" in 2000. She touched, and improved, the lives of many.

Bernice was a valued contributor to the Saskatchewan Police Commission. Her ability to recognize issues and provide insight greatly assisted the Commission in providing effective and efficient policing in Saskatchewan. A wonderful lesson Bernice showed the Commission at meetings was how to constructively disagree. Once during a Commission meeting, she prefaced her remarks with the phrase "I respect what you say, but ...". Then, in a gentle, yet very effective way, she told the other members of the Commission that they were wrong on a certain point.

Her colleagues at the Saskatchewan Police Commission will truly miss the wisdom that Bernice shared with them.

* Includes Special Warrants funding for recruit training.

The Commission, in response to its changed mandate brought on by changes to The Police Act, 1990 continues to place emphasis on training. To this end the Saskatchewan Police College continues to deliver training at the highest level and is ranked among the top police training facilities in Canada. A focus of consistent review of appeals of discipline and suspension as well as review and audits of police services continues to be of importance to the Commission.

ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMISSION

Meetings

The Saskatchewan Police Commission held three meetings and dealt with numerous issues via regular email in 2003 - 2004.

Two Provincial Training Board meetings were held.

The Commission, in its role of operating the Saskatchewan Police College and of promoting efficiency, improving police relations in the community and consulting with and making recommendations to Boards of Police Commissioners and Chiefs of Police, places considerable emphasis on race relations and cross-cultural training. The changing demographics of Saskatchewan's population requires police services be representative of the cultural mix of its citizens. In Saskatchewan, the emerging challenge is to have greater representation at all levels of policing of Aboriginal citizens. To this end the Commission will continue to place great importance on this issue.

Visits

The Director of the Saskatchewan Police Commission Services and the Director of the Saskatchewan Police College continue to make on-site contact with police services around the province on work related matters and informal visits to ensure two-way communication is ongoing between the Commission, Boards and the police community.

Canadian Police College

The Commission acts in a co-ordinating role between the police services and the Canadian Police College in the allocation of spaces for courses and the attendance of the various officers. In the 2003 - 2004 fiscal year, candidates from the following police services attended the Canadian Police College:

Police Services	Candidates
Regina	18
Saskatoon	16
Prince Albert	11
Moose Jaw	4
Estevan	0

There were no appeals on a discipline matter during this reporting period.

SASKATCHEWAN POLICE COLLEGE

Police Training

The Saskatchewan Police College, with offices and classrooms located at the University of Regina, is under the authority and control of the Saskatchewan Police Commission by virtue of The Saskatchewan Police Act, 1990.

The Mission of the Saskatchewan Police College is to collaborate with Saskatchewan Municipal Police Agencies and their memberships to provide:

- The people of Saskatchewan with a professional policing service cognizant of cultural diversity, current police methodology and community expectations.
- A Systematic Approach to Training Research, Design and Delivery.
- Basic Recruit Training.
- Ongoing in-service training and education to enhance and complement personal career development.
- Specialized investigative techniques.
- Ongoing evaluation of current trends and technology which impact police responses.

Courses are offered for all levels of personnel from recruit to management and offered regularly for 'Recruits', 'Operational Investigators', 'Senior Constable's Development', 'Introduction to Management', 'Police Manager's', 'Effective Presentations', 'Cultural Relations', 'Fire Investigation' and 'Drug Investigation'. Other courses and seminars are offered as identified through a systematic needs analysis process.

The Saskatchewan Police College initiated four classes for Operational Investigators during the 2003/2004 budget year in order to address the large numbers of candidates that have been going through the recruit training program over the past four to five years. Another new initiative was the FATS Instructors Course held in January of 2004 for the operation of the new Firearms Automated Training Systems put into place for in-service officers throughout the Province of Saskatchewan. Two simulators were purchased by the Saskatchewan Association of Chiefs of Police and the administration and training for the use of the equipment was channeled through the Saskatchewan Police College. Joint training with the assistance of the RCMP "F" Division took place in order to initiate similar training throughout the province.

A two-day Firearms Re-certification Course was contracted for Saskatchewan Environment Resource Management Enforcement Branch through the Saskatoon Police Service on March 8 - 9, 2004, to provide re-certification training for their firearms instructors.

A Child Abuse Investigators Course was delivered in the Fall of 2003 to address ongoing abuse investigations of children. A large number of attendees came from the regional branches of the Community Resources and Employment, Government of Saskatchewan. Additionally, one candidate from Indian Family Services and one from Saskatoon Tribal Council Health and Family Services.

The Police College delivered four re-certification courses for Instructors dealing with risk management in the area of use of force.

A Fire Investigation (Phase II) Course was held for the first time in the Spring of 2004 to address ongoing qualifications for fire scene investigations. A large number of fire agencies throughout the province were involved in the training and the Saskatchewan Police College partnered with the Fire Commissioner's office to deliver the curriculum on this course.

An Internal Affairs seminar was hosted in Watrous, Saskatchewan by the Saskatchewan Police College to update officers connected with professional standards units throughout the province. A total of 38 officers attended from various points within the province and a partnership between the Saskatchewan Police College and the Complaints Investigators Office was taken in order to deliver this curriculum.

Staff instructors at the Police College were sponsored at several special training initiatives throughout Canada to keep them abreast of current trends. The College recognizes that in order to deliver programs which impact and enhance police officer's knowledge and skills, the instructors must continually be trained and informed. The College continues to co-sponsor individual police officers in specialized areas of police investigation. We continue to promote co-operation and partnerships between police and other agencies such as Community Resources and Employment, medical personnel and various components of the justice system in enhancing the outcomes of joint investigations.

Police College staff provided many hours of consultation, research and program development to other police agencies and local government departments.

A total of 475 candidates were trained in-house while another 71 were trained through joint partnerships with the Saskatoon Police Service (SERM Contract), Fire Commissioner's Office and the Complaints Investigator's Office. An additional 6 candidates were sent away for training outside the province. A total of 550 candidates were trained throughout the fiscal year. The candidates represent municipal police services, Saskatchewan Environment and Resource Management Enforcement Branch, Highway Transport Patrol Enforcement, CN and CP Police Services, RCMP "F" Division, Medicine Hat Police Service, Fire Commissioner's Office, members of the Department of Justice, various fire department agencies within the province, Child and Family Services, Community Resources and Employment and Indian Child Family Services within the province of Saskatchewan.
