The rates are revised on an annual basis by the Department in consultation with the two municipal organizations. In 2004, the rate charged to urban and rural communities was $57.40 per capita at the top of the range and $26.05 at the bottom of the range.

The Commission, in response to its changed mandate brought on by changes to The Police Act, 1990, continues to place emphasis on training. To this end, the Saskatchewan Police College continues to deliver training at the highest level and is ranked among the top police training facilities in Canada.

The Commission continues its focus on public complaints and matters of internal discipline, through monitoring of complaints, appointment of Hearing Officers, conducting reviews and hearing Appeals as well as the creation of Regulations pursuant to The Police Act, 1990.

* Includes Special Warrants funding for recruit training.

Meetings

The Saskatchewan Police Commission held three regular meetings, several teleconference meetings and dealt with numerous issues via email in 2004/2005.

Additionally, the Commission held two Provincial Training Board meetings.

The Commission is mandated through legislation to operate the Saskatchewan Police College. In discharging its mandate, the Commission is responsible for promoting efficiency, improving police relations in the community and regularly consults with municipal Boards of Police Commissioners, the Saskatchewan Association of Chiefs of Police (SACP) and the Saskatchewan Federation of Police Officers. The Commission places considerable emphasis on race relations and cross-cultural training. The changing demographics of Saskatchewan's population requires that police services ensure their membership is representative of the general population they police.

In Saskatchewan, the challenge is to have a greater representation of Aboriginal police officers at all levels and roles in policing. To this end the Commission will continue to lead in the development of strategies to recruit and retain Aboriginal police officers in the province.

Visits

The Executive Director of the Saskatchewan Police Commission Services and the Director of the Saskatchewan Police College continue to make on-sight visits with police services and non-government agencies around the province. Ongoing liaison with the Boards of Police Commissioners, the SACP, the Saskatchewan Federation of Police Officers, members of the public and other federal and provincial colleagues enables the Commission to be aware of emerging issues, trends and challenges of contemporary policing.

Canadian Police College

The Commission acts in a co-ordinating role between the police services and the Canadian Police College in the allocation of spaces for courses.

In the 2004/2005 fiscal year, candidates from the following police services attended the Canadian Police College:

Police Services	Number of Candidates
Regina	21
Saskatoon	18
Prince Albert	9
Moose Jaw	7
Estevan	1
Weyburn	0

Appeals to the Commission

There was one request for Leave to Appeal the Decision of a Hearing Officer before the Chair of the Commission in 2004/2005. However, there were no appeals heard by the Commission during this period.

Saskatchewan Police College

Police Training

The Saskatchewan Police College, with offices and classrooms located at the University of Regina, is under the authority and control of the Saskatchewan Police Commission by virtue of The Police Act, 1990.

The Mission of the Saskatchewan Police College is to collaborate with Saskatchewan Municipal Police Agencies and their membership to provide:

- the people of Saskatchewan with a professional policing service cognizant of cultural diversity, current police methodology and community expectations;
- a systematic approach to training research, design and delivery;
- Basic Recruit Training;
- ongoing in-service training and education to enhance and compliment personal career development;
- specialized investigative techniques; and
- an ongoing evaluation of current trends and technology which impact police responses.

Courses are offered for all levels of personnel from recruit to management and offered regularly for "Recruits", "Operational Investigators", "Senior Constable's Development", "Introduction to Management", "Police Manager's", "Effective Presentations", "Cultural Relations", "Fire Investigation" and "Drug Investigation". Other courses and seminars are offered as identified through a systematic needs analysis process.

The Saskatchewan Police College completed the final phase (Phase III) of a three-year program on Fire Investigation for police officers and fire personnel. This was done in partnership with the Provincial Fire Commissioner's office based on national curriculum standards. In partnership with the RCMP "F" Division, the College provided a two-day seminar on "Technological Crime". The first day of the seminar addressed investigative techniques for police officers, followed by a second day for the corporate sector of Saskatchewan. Many of the security concerns were identified to those in attendance. During the two days, 227 people participated in the seminar with 41 coming from municipal police services within the province.

The College re-introduced a Media Communications course and two Firearms Instructor courses to meet the needs identified by the police community. New adult learning theory and practice was introduced in the Effective Presentation course to aid future instructors identified for the Police College. Cultural Diversity training was re-evaluated and partnerships were formed with the First Nations University of Canada for the delivery of a revised curriculum in the recruit training program. New topics were added to the recruit program, based on recommendations from two commissions of inquiry. A new "Officer's Guide to Mental Disturbances" booklet was completed and is now being distributed to new and existing officers within the province.

Staff instructors at the Police College attended several special national training initiatives to remain current. The College recognizes that instructors must continually update their skills and abilities. The College continues to promote co-operation and professional partnerships between police services and agencies such as, the Department of Community Resources and Employment, the medical profession and various components of the justice system. This leads to a more professional approach to complex investigations and enhances the outcome of joint investigations.

During 2004/2005, the college staff provided many hours of consultation, research and program development for other police agencies and local government departments.

In 2004/2005, a total of 430 candidates were trained in-house while another 227 were trained through a joint partnership with the RCMP "F" Division. Six candidates obtained training outside the province and another 11 were trained off-site within the province. A total of 674 candidates were trained throughout the fiscal year.

Candidates trained represent municipal police services, Saskatchewan Environment and Resource Management Enforcement Branch, Highway Transport Patrol Enforcement, CN and CP Police Services, RCMP "F" Division, Brandon Police Service, Fire Commissioner's Office, members of the Department of Justice, private business and various fire departments within the province.
